

· Teaching statement by Pedro Gamito

As a consequence of the technological focus of my PhD, the majority of the subjects taught since obtaining the degree were of a technological nature. Disciplines such as Multimedia, Cyberpsychology, Virtual Reality or even Applied Informatics are an example. In all of these subjects a special attention was made to incorporate state-of-the-art matters that were the outcome of my research or the research of colleagues that work in the same area of knowledge.